Can Robinhood Markets build solar power stations in space?

The billionaire co-founder of Robinhood Markets Inc. is targeting outer space with a new Silicon Valley startup to build a network of solar power stations in orbit.

Can space-based solar work?

Space-based solar is certainly one way to do that. If the company can pull it off, the market could be massive. But first Aetherflux has to prove that it works at all. The company is working toward its first mission now, with the aim of sending up a demonstration spacecraft in the fourth quarter of 2025 or the first quarter of 2026.

Why did Bhatt leave Robinhood?

Bhatt cofounded Robinhood with CEO Vlad Tenev, who he met when they were both physics students at Stanford, in 2013 and he remains on the board. His impetus to leave, he said, was because he was "just too passionate about wanting to make something like this happen."
